1 Devialet Phantom Reactor

As loud as a symphony orchestra, yet small enough to be carried in one hand. Devialet's new speaker is a feat of audio engineering.

From £990, devialet.com

2 Naim Uniti Atom

Naim's delectable all-in-one packs in Burr Brown DACs for high-end sound, a five-inch display and support for streaming. It also comes with a 40-watt amp.

£1,999, naimaudio.com

3 Sonos Beam

This T3 Award-winning soundbar has a range of music services built in and is AirPlay 2 compatible. It can also expand to support Sonos multi-room or 5.1 surround sound.

£399, sonos.com

4 Yamaha MusicCast Vinyl 500

Yamaha's new turntable wirelessly connects to MusicCast-enabled speakers to stream your vinyl to them, no amp or cables required.
